

Rights Groups Oppose Cop Slaying of Handcuffed Youth

The St. Louis Argus

Urban League, NAACP, ACTION, Aldermen Act

By BUDDY LONESOME

The brutal killing of that 17 year old youth, last week, by a police officer who had first handcuffed his prisoner's hands—has unleashed a raging storm of protest in this community.

Protests came this week from the NAACP, which sparked the initial passing reaction.

From the Urban League, which fired off a hotly worded protest to Mayor Cerveras, urging "thorough investigation."

From CORE, which is requesting the naming of a civilian review board to investigate complaints of police brutality.

From ACTION, which is demanding that the police officer who fired the fatal shot be suspended.

To the St. Louis Board of Aldermen, where two Negro Aldermen are demanding that the aldermanic Committee on Public Welfare investigate the shooting.

"Street anger reaction from John and Jane Doe is all bitterly intelligent."

Visiting from ABE.

Cravens, who was visiting this city from Arkansas, was shot and killed after he had been arrested by Patrolman Darrel Rommel and Theodore Carver. The officer who fired the fatal shot, Patrolman Rommel, charged that Cravens kicked his partner, and then tried to run away.

After being shot in the chest, Patrolman Rommel reports he fired one shot at the handcuffed suspect—striking the youth in the back of the head.

Last week a coroner's jury ruled the slaying of Cravens was "justifiable homicide."

However, the coroner's ruling has no official status on proceedings of the Grand Jury.

The Police Department's Director of Community Relations, Robert Barton, assures the ABE that a complete investigation is underway.

"It is unfortunate to me that the handcuffed youth, already searched for dangerous weapons by the police, could pose such a threat that his shooting was necessary."

"As inevitable with his hands secured behind his back cannot run as fast as normal, he let off balance," Donith reminded Mayor Cerveras.

The Urban League letter to Mayor Cerveras is over the signature of William E. Dolan, executive director. In urging the investigation, Donith told Cerveras:

"The fact is that such a death is a calamity to the Negro community, and the same calamity to all who are concerned with the Negro."

Aldermen Wilfred H. Bonner, Sr. and Nathaniel J. Rivers, 24th Ward, have introduced the resolution in the Board of Aldermen calling for the investigation of the slaying of Cravens.

They asked, in the meantime, that the facts and circumstances surrounding the slaying be investigated.

St. Louis CORE begins demonstrations at Jantzen Chevrolet, 5500 S. Grand Bridge, Friday, June 25 at 1:00 P.M.

CORE is seeking employment of Negroes as mechanical, electrical workers, assemblers and parts department personnel.

At present, Gene Jantzen employs more than 100 persons, all of whom are Negro.

For several months CORE has negotiated with Mr. Jantzen, but to no avail.

CORE is now taking the case to the courts.

This is the 2772nd consecutive issue of The St. Louis Argus.

3,000 Employed CORE's Director Stirring In Mayor's Job Program

The National Director of CORE says Negroes are winning the civil rights battle but the "really important" quest for quality is still to be waged.

James Farmer, who has been director of the civil rights organization since 1960, said the fight for civil rights and the attainment must "go hand and hand."

"We are seeking for a Federal presence in the South," he said on the side of the "realistic" stance.

Farmer said he considered the Negro press a co-worker because it has not reached the status of impartiality, "... and we are glad. We can be sure of sympathetic reporting in the civil rights demonstration."

Students Here City Plans A Festival Week

Mayor A. J. Cerveras has announced a FESTIVAL OF ST. LOUIS from August 8th through August 14th.

"I am very pleased to announce the Festival of St. Louis which is being presented by the Municipal Women's Committee, The Board of St. Louis will be 30 days filled with a variety of places to go, things to do and sights to see."

The Women's Committee has been one of our longest-standing groups during the Bicentennial.

Now it has brought together an outstanding number of people to help make this year of the 100th anniversary of St. Louis what it should be—a celebration of our city.

The Teachers Union To Help In Miss.

CHICAGO — The AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers will direct the Mississippi Freedom Schools and cooperate in compensatory education programs in seven other southern states this summer, the president of the 110,000 member teachers union reports.

Charles Cohen, AFT president, said that scores of union teachers "are going into the South this summer to work in Freedom Schools and to establish tutorial programs in conjunction with voter registration drives."

He announced that Arthur Reese, a member of the Detroit Federation of Teachers, Local 231, director of the Harrisburg, Miss. Freedom School last summer, will be in charge of Freedom School teachers in Mississippi this year.

A second coordinator for the union teachers under Martin Luther King, Jr.'s SCLC (Southern Christian Leadership Conference) division of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, will be named.

Cohen said the union will provide their services for a period of from six to eight weeks.

They will work without compensation and with only $10-$15 a week in expenses in Mississippi, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Louisiana.

The Mississippi school, which began last year, continued to be the largest and most successful of the union's projects.

Teachers for the schools and projects are being recruited in the North and will be trained in two sessions in the South. The first of the teaching staff will take up their duties in southern schools on June 27 and will provide their services for a period of from six to eight weeks.

$267,185 For Anti-Poverty Project Here

A $267,185 Federal Grant to help low income people in St. Louis.

St. Louis County was authorized Tuesday for the St. Louis Human Development Corporation, which administers the anti-poverty program here.

Legal advice and representation of legal rights and obligations will be provided under the grant. In addition, the law schools at Washington and St. Louis universities will offer non-credit courses to their students on legal problems as they affect the poor.

The grant is for civil legal services only, not the substance of criminal matters.

The program is one of the first in the country authorized by the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, and the only one in which a bar association is a direct participant.

Under the St. Louis program, the Legal Aid Society of St. Louis and St. Louis County will staff 13 legal centers that the Human Development Corporation will open, and the Bar Association of St. Louis will furnish a minimum of 1000 hours of educational service without charge.

IN CENTERS

The legal services offices will be in the Human Development Corp. neighborhood centers if there is a space. Otherwise, facilities will be found near the centers.

Farmer Bar Association President Randolph H. Crutcher, who was one of the authors of the legal aid proposal, said that the reason the grant was sought was "not only to help poor persons obtain legal aid, but to help them understand that they are not alone."

He said the grant was sought to help poor persons obtain legal aid, but to help them understand that they are not alone.

Keeping Up With TV Commercials

Did you ever wonder about some of the claims made in TV commercials that don't make the least bit of sense? Or about the opinions, involving taste and indecency and that sort of thing. After all, what's mild or severe or so on per se, may not be so to all.

The kind of commercial I mean are those that make explicit or disguised reference to the distribution of a medicine, famous or infamous. Take, for example, We saw no money paid to the doctor, and that's no wonder we got outlandish. Whether it's one, you're not paid for your services, or whatever, you women make up your own minds as to whether the medicine will or won't force the way it is advertised.

Just for the fun of it, I recently decided to look into the claims made for headache remedies. Found of pain relief and the fact that it's a medicine, but not the points of weakness in these commercials. I obtained a copy of a scientific journal appeared in a mild advertisement, published by the American Medical Association, supporting or a comparative study of the five leading headache remedies. (The best) commercials. This study was financed by no agency of the U. S. Government, and was only an independent evaluation. The study, conducted by three well known, experienced, and respected, and degrees of relief, and instances of stomach upset, and the fact that it's a medicine, and so on. The study, conducted by three well known, experienced, and respected, and degrees of relief, and instances of stomach upset, and the fact that it's a medicine, and so on.

On the matter of pain relief, the lowest point of the study is our belief that the only criterion by which validity of most or more of the claims (which refer) can be judged by the official response to the administration of the drug. In other words, laboratory tests showing the amount of the drug in the blood stream at a given time do not give a reliable answer to the question of speed or amount of relief.

Incidentally, all 200 participants in the pain relief phase of the study were women. Every birth to babies.

One company whose product, Bayer, was included in the study has published a document which repeats the findings of the study. The document states that the Bayer tablets are completely distinguished and are not the same as the other tablets. The document states that the Bayer tablets are completely distinguished and are not the same as the other tablets.

While the analysis conducted by the independent committee will undoubtedly continue to be a matter of debate, and all the side issues, I feel better after having checked into these commercials.

So once again it's SUMMERTIME in St. Louis. It's the time of year when, if you arise early enough, the grass is still wet with a heavy dew. If you plan to sleep late on a weekend, though, you're bound to hear the noisy loud purr of power mowers. Summer in St. Louis includes such delights as barbecues, the heavy scent of grass after a thunderstorm, followed by the steamy humidity of the days. There is also the smell of damp swimming suits or drying chicken on its way to a picnic. There are the cries of the watermelon man and "Play Ball" at Busch stadium or the pulsations of Harry Carey and Jack Buck as they announce the game over the radio. Summertime in St. Louis is the sound of the tinkling tune of the ice cream truck, the band concerts in the park and the Star Spangled Banner as you arrive before a production at the Mury Opera. It's picnicking in the park and watching the parade of always present guests, the ants, towards a dropped morsel. It's sitting quietly on a bench fishing or meditating on one's own backyard and watching the finches flicker. It's pouring a tall cool one and watching the tennis foam on top. It's the sound of the thump of balls on the tennis court; the watching for children behind every ball that rolls into the street. It's a load of kids enroute to the drive-in movie. It's the good sights, the funny sights, and the not so good sights of all shapes and sizes with larvae, short shorts, and tight pants. It's the sight of freshly washed clothes flapping in the breeze, and students going forth in the early morn for classes at schools and universities. It's the unexpected phone call telling of the arrival of friends from far and near. It's the feel of popcicle juice or ice cream melting down your hand or the dampness of ears under bare feet. It's sight and sound of the whole family filling up the car for a drive to the country to cool off. It's walking into an air-conditioned office building and the impact of the heat when you return to the street. It's taking a boat trip down the Mississippi or sitting on the levee listening to the Gateway Arch perform beneath the arch. (The first concert will be this Sunday at 8:00 p.m.). And amidst all the sights, sounds, and smells, if you listen carefully, you may be rewarded with the sound of church bells tolling softly from steeples across the city when it's summertime in St. Louis.

HERE AND THERE

This may be summer vacation for some, but for others, it's a time for work and study. Elementary programs include the two Lincoln Universities, one headed by Rufus Young in the Eastgate District and another headed by Louis Anderson in the Turner Branch District. These two summer schools will bolster up students who need help in basic subjects and will include such innovations as team teaching, teacher aides, daily lunch, with teachers in charge, and observers from the Washington University NDEA (National Defense Education Act) Institute for the study of Culturally Disadvantaged Children. In the Bannockburn District, a Country Summer School will be purging along with enrichment and remedial work for children as well as field trips and creative experiences in writing, art, and music. At the High School level, there will be Lincoln and Chouteau Summer Institutes and these were discussed quite thoroughly in some of last summer's columns. In addition, a few city students are included in the Mark Twain Institute for academically gifted children and the Lewis and Clark Institute also situated in the outlying counties. Because of the venemous of the St. Louis system, many teachers are in demand around the country for various workshops, institutes, and demonstration classes. Off to Bethesda, Maryland, in Florida for five weeks of demonstration work, Ida Whitfield, Marvel Grace and Donna Bradley. Caroline Stambler left on Saturday to participate as a teacher in the NDEA workshop for Teachers of Disadvantaged Children at River Forest, Illinois. Classes are being held at the Concordia Teachers College. Anna Morgan received a week's leave from her studies in the Math Program at Webster College to do a week's workshop in San Diego, California. Two of her classmates Katie Reynolds and Ardis (Hansberry) Moody will do a similar in-service program in Chicago towards the end of August. Leslie Palmer took along his experience as a teacher of special school children to teach classes at Bowling Green, Kentucky. While here on the home front, Freddie Witherspoon, who just received her Ph.D. from St. Louis University, has already joined the faculty in a do a seminar in learning information to students in the areas of Remedial Reading and Children's Literature. Tuesday Julius Dix and Ogil Wikerson, left to do Guidance and Modern Math, respectively, in the Oberlin College Summer Open Program.

From another part of the country, we received news from the United Nations Correspondents Association which told of the recent tour of Dr. Marguerite Cartwright, New York, well known as a teacher, lecturer and journalist, who has just returned from a tour of Asia and around the world. Her journey, that began in March, took her to Tokyo, Kyoto (where she traveled on that 125 mile per hour train) to Okinawa, Formosa, Hongkong, Bangkok, Hong Kong, New Delhi, Moscow and London. At all points she was hosted by top governmental officials.

Passing through St. Louis on their way to Middletown, Connecticut were Betty and Person Jeffries who just missed the flood in their hometown. Career, arena, here. The Jeffries visited relatives and were accompanied by their two sons, Guy and Neal. Person is turning for a final summer of work at Wesleyan College where he has been studying all year. The Jeffries plan to make a side trip to Washington, D.C., before hitting their final destination.

ENTERTAINING

The Acme Art and Culture Club held their last meeting of the year at the Southern Kitchen. Miss Adelaide Cox, president, led the current events program. Miss 286 Lenois and A. N. Vaughn were congratulated for their recent recognition their husbands have received. Mrs. Vaughn, sponsor of the Bessie Beale Fund, reported on the substantial gift from the Mary Stancil Music School and Parents' Club. Mrs. Stancil was an outstanding student of the Eastern School. The club is presently assisting Dennis Mathaway, former Vashon student, who is attending prep school at Howard University. The club's trip for the year was "The Negro and His Contribution to World Affairs". In addition to the club members, Mrs. J. E. Anderson, an honorary member, and Mrs. Sara L. Rogers, new member, were present.

The Charitable Women's Club, Inc. held its meetings recently. The first, held at the home of Alice Hudson, was to complete plans for assembling eighth grade pupils of the Howard School on tours to experience memories in Forest Park and the Planetarium. At their final meeting of the year, at which time Virginia McNeal was hostess, new officers were installed by Senator T. D. McNeal. Senator McNeal has been working diligently to provide scholarships for needy children of the state. The new officers include Olive Kirkland, president; Clara Trice, vice-president; Alice Singleton, treasurer; Ruth Trice, secretary; Eleanor Johnson, program chairman; Audrey Underwood, Sgt.-at-Arms and Dining Fund Chairman; Evelyn Thurman, Registrar; and Scholarship Committee members Virginia McNeal, A. B. Howard and Arthur Gibson.

Present for the 50th Anniversary celebration of the Sumner High School was Principal G. D. Brantley's cousin, Miss Mabel Bello, a retired teacher from the Birmingham, Alabama school system. The Belloys were married in the city of St. Louis, by that of another brother, Dr. Percy Bello, a well known retired teacher from Oakland, California. He has recently completed a trip around the world enroute to San Francisco and is enroute later landing in New York. This is his fifth trip, visiting other continents. He shows

MISS JO ANN HENDERSON

Miss Jo Ann Henderson Is Engaged To Clarence Berry

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Henderson, R.A. degree in psychology and son of 4107 West Lexington avenue, St. Louis, Missouri, announced today in Atlanta, Ga., as an engagement of their daughter, Miss Jo Ann Elizabeth, to Clarence Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Berry of 808 Santa Barbara St. of Pico, Texas.

The wedding will take place August 22, 1964, at First Baptist Church, Cardinal and Bell Aves. Miss Henderson is a graduate of Spellman College, holding a home in St. Pico, Texas.

This was a lively weekend for the forty folks who traveled down to the Lake of the Ozarks when the McPhail entertained two of her club members, Miss Jo Ann Henderson and the 38th-Tuck Club. Some of the members brought along the husbands who helped keep things lively. Among the couples were the Fred Starks, Walter Lathen, the John Green, Duggan, Murray, and others including Vera Howard, Thelma Dickerson, Ernie Washington, Peter Kinchid, Phyllis Harper and her friend, Margie, from Iowa; Barbara Hancock, Rosalyn Ball and Florence Bihupre. There was dinner for the whole group on Saturday afternoon and then some decided on cards, while others enjoyed motorboat riding on the lake. The more nifty ones of the group went up early enough for breakfast at the McPhails and later in the afternoon, John and Della Green, said "I'd all come" to their little home where they feasted on barbecued steak, chicken, and all the other goodies.

Out-in-the-open, but closer to home were the guests at the O'Learys picnic held Sunday at the Postal Athletic Club in Black Jack on Saturday Sunday. The Kingman's Club was the site for the yearly Jack and Jill picnic.

Sunday evening, Mrs. Isabella Fells and her daughter, Kathryn Bunker, hosted a beautiful Cocktail Party at Mrs. Fells' home for visiting Dorothy (Frieda) Chambers, who is here on a visit from Dallas, Texas. The guests included a wide range of Dorothy's and gave her an opportunity to see many she might have otherwise missed.

Archibald and Jeanie Peterson invited a few couples in on Monday night to say "Hi" to their houseguests of a few days. Sam and Gail Newberry, who formerly made their home in St. Louis. The GOING SOMEWHERE? Well, why not? It is summertime now—the time of the year for traveling. You may be going abroad or just around the United States for a rest, or on a planned tour, or maybe business. Whatever the reason might be, traveling is a big thing.

Of course, when one travels, it is necessary to take with him or her what is needed. Now, you might not go on a long trip without enough money, and neither would it be very practical to go without a few clothes or the right kind of shoes.

For this time of the year is generally rainy weather all over the world. This means that a raincoat is a necessity for "just-in-case-emergency." A gleaming emerald cloque is a stunning and unique way of warding off bad weather. This water-repellent cloque serves a dual role: (1) as rainwear (2) as a beautiful "dress-up" costume. For the sake of one's health, it's a big advantage. Pack a dual-role with your wardrobe for the wet, windy weather; you may encounter while traveling this summer.

Don't be too shocked when you receive envious, admiring glances with rain pouring. You look very chic even though the weather is wet. Be sure to pack everything! And above all, pack a good-looking raincoat or cape.

The ex-teacher also received a certificate of appreciation for her years of service. The document was signed by James McPhail, president of the board of education and by William Kistner, superintendent of instruction.

Atty. and Mr. Miles S. Outlaw, 5098 Euclid, announced the engagement of their niece, Cecilia S. Selvey, to Mr. William James Peter of Toledo, O. The wedding will be July 3, in Toledo where the couple will reside temporarily. A reception will be held at the Colored Women's Clubs Association House, 3029 Chestnut, July 10, from 3 to 5 p.m. Miss Selvey is a medical student at Howard University, Washington, D.C. She is a member of Central Baptist Church. She graduated with honors from Sumner High School. She plans to continue her medical studies.

Mr. Peter is a student at Toledo University and will graduate in February. He plans to do post-graduate study for a master's degree. Mr. Peter is currently employed at the Allied Chemical Co. in Toledo, Ohio.

STYLES MAY CHANGE but we never expect women to go back to custom stockings.

ALTHOUGH PREGNANCY and the birth of a first child add stress to marriage, having a baby also frequently results in a more mature, stable, marital relationship.

These are the conclusions drawn by psychologist Hazel Feldman, Ph.D., and sociologist from a study they made of 40 couples from different parts of the country. The study was done in connection with the work done with Cornell University's Department of Child Development and Family Relations. Dr. Maymone is affiliated with the College of Medicine.

The couples, who range in age mainly from 21 to 24, recalled the period before pregnancy as being happier than the pregnancy. The girls, when husbands and baby were together, husbands sometimes expressed the hope that their wives would have more time for them when the baby was older.

They said they laughed more together, had a good time together more often. Nonetheless, both parents anticipated that when their baby reached 6 months of age, they would have even more satisfactory relationships than before pregnancy.

Husbands and wives agreed that the wife had been more attractive before pregnancy, but the husbands seemed less concerned about this than the wives. Women said they felt uncomfortable about going out when they were pregnant because of their appearance.

During the first five months of the baby's life, one or another of the parents reported feeling misunderstood, left out, and having more arguments more often. Generally, the frequency of disagreements over child-rearing de-

DO YOU HAVE A NEIGHBOR OR RELATIVES WHOM YOU WISH TO AGGRAVATE?

There are several things you could do, first off you could get a new CADILLAC, that is sure to turn them green with envy as it sits in your drive way.

But here is a more unique way, spend several thousand dollars on new and exquisite furnishings and furniture.

After all, it lasts for literally a lifetime and a day only has status for several years.

You'll be amazed at how envious your friends and relatives will be. Many a wife of a successful businessman has told me, "Mr. Lo here, you just wouldn't believe how I've driven my sister-in-law green with envy since you took my home—and what's more, my children and husband are proud of our home—it's like a second living room."

Have you ever thought of it that way? You spend most of your time in your home. Good furniture does not cost that much. Certainly the least expensive car you can buy is several thousand dollars and can never give you the pure pleasure that your own castle can.

Please call me. I want to help you make your friends jealous. Very Jealous.

Voting Begins for All-Star Players.

The balloting for the players to represent the West and East divisions' all-stars of the 16-team traveling Family Baseball League will begin next Sunday, baseball commissioner Captain Tom Brooks announced last Sunday.

As in the past, the players will select the starting lineup, exclusive of pitchers, in their own division. The only restriction is that they cannot vote for players on their team. Each club must be represented by at least one player.

Treasurer Jesse Hecker will again be in charge of the most popular Queen Contest. The queen will be selected after the East-West all-star game in Brookline, Illinois, on Sunday, July 11. Starting time for the game has been set for 2:30 p.m.

Under the lights Friday night at Fairgrounds Park, William Jones, converted from a pitcher, catcher, shortstopper and to a third baseman, broke a 3-3 tie with a three-run "bludge" triple in the eighth inning and brought home Tom Lofgren, manager (their victory, 5-3, over Skipper Hiram Tillard's Wade Funeral Home team).

Trailing 3-0, going into the half of the eighth, Wade's rally for three runs on pinch hitter Sammy Ladd's 250-foot homer and two walks, 0-1, 1-000 (the wind wild, however, Lefty Glen Cashmere's scattered even hit during the first seven innings. The Underdaughters got an unearned run in the first frame. The Wade's Larry Brown played good ball, but failed to get good lineup support.

At Teddy Park—The Mathew-Dickey Knighthood maintained their own gains in the West-ern Division by defeating the former Fire Door Tigers, 12-4. The Knighthood's hitting stars were Earl C. Frank Robinson, Carl Land Goodwin, William Green, Sharvart Carter and Lawrence Alge, the budding second baseman, started in the field.

In the opener, K. M. moved out Wade Funeral Home 12-1, as the pitcher, Charlie Simmons and shortstop Norman Cashmere hit two hits each, sparked the winner's 12-hit attack.

At Brookline, Ill. in a see-saw, thrilling battle, Manager James Wall's Brooklyn Robins, who led the East Division, won its record to 1-2 with an 11-0 victory over Pumper William Clay's Eagles. Third-stringer Jones went 4 for 4, and led the Robins' 10-hit attack.

At Kinloch—Rugger Bob Gibson exploited for two home runs and belted in eight runs. Simon Tobias Bob Coleman, Earl Boyd and Eddie Cobb, the Kinloch's, made doberman the Rookies 3-0-0, before the home-town celebration.

Lambs Club Golf Tourney

Officer Saves

Baby Life

An alert policeman saved life of a 10-month-old baby at 5621 Maple Avenue, Sunday.

The officer, Patrolman Winford Lewis, applied immediate mouth resuscitation which saved the life of ten-month-old Malachi Bartley, of the Maple Avenue address.

Police arrived at the time that the infant's mother, Mrs. Anna Bartley, was running out of the house with the stricken child. The desperate mother, excitedly explained to police that her child was not breathing.

The mother and child were placed in the rear seat of the police car. Officer Lewis got in the back seat and immediately applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation as an assisting officer sped to Honor Phillips Hospital.

Before arrival to the hospital the baby resumed normal breathing.

At the hospital the infant was pronounced suffering from convulsions, tonsillitis and pneumonia.

Staff physician F. Lemons said the baby's life was undoubtedly saved by Officer Lewis' action.

COURAGE is wearing on its own personal tragedies without granting them to others.

In White America

The idiotic frothing of the morning daily newspaper this week in commenting on the community-wide reaction to the day of the handcuffed youth by a police officer, must not go unnoticed.

The Globe-Democrat errs firstly, in referring to the brutal slaying of Martin Luther King as an incident. It is much more than that.

Secondly, that daily newspaper would have you believe the slain youth ignored the police officer's shot. For the record, unknown in this office, that seems to be of great importance. According to official police report, however, the officer who shot Melvin Craven, one patrolman Darrell Kammell, fired TWO shots at his "escaping" prisoner. That is all—not several.

Just what this salient point means to anyone, especially to the relatives of Melvin Craven, will in all likelihood, remain a mystery.

The Globe editorial writer then sneers at the Negro community on police brutality, charging that mobs of citizens have been hoisting St. Louis police officers with impunity.

This is quite humorous. The NAACP alone has a voluminous case of complaints of plain, ordinary law-abiding citizens giving time and place of instances where they allege police brutality.

For weeks now, the Police Department has been painstakingly supplied with this information. The NAACP charges the information has been ignored, as far as they can determine. Whether justifiable or unjustifiable, when such complaints of citizens are so ignored, then the present state of affairs wherein the citizens are fighting, seems to be just a natural turn of events.

Any More John Birchers??

It was a startling revelation that a former law-abiding citizen in the St. Louis Police Department is a John Birch leader, and has now, in fact, been selected to head up John Birch activity throughout the State of Missouri. James J. Allman, former head of the local police department's Community Relations bureau, seems to have literally pulled the wool over our eyes.

However, during his term of almost five years as the Police Department's leader on sensitive racial issues, James J. Allman also had unlimited access to the inner-thoughts and plans of the civil rights groups.

The John Birch Society is, of course, directly opposed to any sort of racial equality. The organization also works actively.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY:

Action On Jobs Urged

Reprinted from the LOS ANGELES SENTINEL

Multi-millionaire industrialist Edgar F. Kaiser recently has credited demonstrations by minorities for "forcing" American business and industrialists to actually act on the non-discriminatory policies "they claimed" for so many years.

In a speech in San Francisco Thursday, the president of the world famous Kaiser Industries frankly asked 800 west coast business leaders:

"Without the push of these demonstrations and marches, how many of us would have opened our offices and factory doors to full employment opportunity?"

Billed as the keynote speaker at a Plaza for Progress Conference, Kaiser said that many firms "have long-standing policies of non-discrimination, but few put the policies into action."

"The time for planning is over and the time for action is now," Kaiser added.

The noted industrialist said that America's "submerged" people have been patient for generations in their faith in the American Dream, but now is the time for action.

POLICE INDISCRETIONS

Worse than the shocking stories of atrocities during the Hitler regime in the thirties and forties... more horrifying and chilling than the crimes and unwarranted murders during the Korean conflict, the Viet Nam war, or for that matter, the bloody murders in old Mississippi and other parts of the South... yes, the bloody murder, right here in St. Louis, of 17-year-old Michael Craven by a policeman is just as dastardly and heinous as any.

Patrolman Darrell Kammell was indicted and charged with 1st degree murder for the midnight, Mississippi style, cold blooded slaying of the St. Louis youth... We are of this persuasion because it is inconceivable that a handcuffed prisoner could shoot or fight back.

The many recent citizens riots against "peace officers" of the metropolitan police force—which was recently and properly questioned—judged one of the best of its kind in the world by Scotland Yard—indicative of the great unrest and discontent among the Negro citizenry.

The Negro has been caged in, pressured and mistreated far too long. The new Negro will not be contained, he will not rest, nor stop his fight short of first class citizenship, respect and treatment for all Americans.

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

We are told that some of the policemen act as demoralized minded sadistic maniacs and gluttonous lunatics when they arrest and "place" a person behind bars... They seemingly, it is said, delight in using lewd, foul language; they curse and swear before children and persons they are supposedly trying to rehabilitate or set examples for... They bribe poor women and teenage girls; they seduce married women to their places and apartments; they drink and are sometimes highly inebriated while burning the gas of a patrol car or wagon at the expense of the poor people they push around unnecessarily and the hard taxed citizens... But worse of all, many of them are said to be in alliance with the mob and the low bred and criminal segment of our society, horror of horrors, ABUSE OF AUTHORITY.

Since there are some policemen, perhaps more from the South who take their job too much that they are not to be trusted, it is to contain and keep Negroes in their place—as they say—perhaps legislation should be forthcoming to curb and further control police, power and authority... Perhaps it would not be a bad idea if all policemen were Caucasians... at least, and at that rate, there would be a conscience.

SOLE, ETHICS AND EDUCATION

A policeman is or should be instructed to use courtesy and tact... for it is hard for him to be a policeman, to rehabilitate a criminal from bad habits that police themselves are possessive of. Notwithstanding the fact that there are MANY highly intelligent, educated, as well as respected policemen, it is high time that the ignorant mob, infatuated with his role as a public servant, a psychologist, sociologist and friend of the people, be eliminated to make room for the more educated and prepared.

We are told that police work today is a highly regarded profession... that policemen should be respected members of the community. They are here to "keep the peace". They should wear their uniforms with pride and people should recognize them on the street as they go about their duties, and should respect them for their training and their position in the community... This is the way it should be... but it can and will never be, until the low, lewd, ignorant slunk is eliminated from the police force, at all levels, both Negro and white.

COMMUNITY ACTION

Militant civil rights organizations are voting strong concern over recent Police Indiscretions and brutalities against Negro citizens... The Congress of Racial Equality has suggested an independent Civilian Review Board to rule and mete out judgments on police who mistreat citizens and police powers... The NAACP has demanded an investigation of the Craven shooting... Even the Muslims, not long ago, warned the police about unnecessary brutality and mistreatment of citizens.

The people are alarmed and there may have to be a big show-down as to who is who and who has the most authority, and power, the police department or the citizens, who make the law. The answer should be unequivocal: the people.

It must always be remembered that in every town, village, and hamlet of these United States, this is still... a Government of THE PEOPLE... by THE PEOPLE... and for THE PEOPLE! The people must "Police" their own communities... Fraternity, God, and our great system of Government must and will continue to ring, not just here in St. Louis and within the Metropolitan Police Department, but around the world.

Politics of N. Y., N. Y.

WASHINGTON—The true measure of Robert F. Wagner's worth as a Mayor of New York will, I suppose, only be known when his successor is chosen and has had a chance to prove himself. One Democratic aspirant for the job has proclaimed that "we're through with mediocrity in New York, which must mean that he is running on the 'cross-country' ticket, a sure sign this man knows his own mind. He is also a sure sign that he is a man of the people, one of which is a sense of modesty.

Some of the other candidates appear to be more reticent, a reflection of the ancient truism that "N.Y. is a city that is not to be trifled with." One of you've been Mayor of New York, it's a pretty sure sign that you are going nowhere else, electively speaking.

It is difficult with being Mayor in that, is actually, you are too close to the people and their problems. Whether it's a civil rights demonstration or sheer clamor or how the garbage is collected and disposed of, there is no suggestion, there is no way for the Mayor to escape his responsibilities.

Bob Wagner has always been underestimated, both as a man and as Mayor. His editorialists and other outside agents have not distinguished themselves for either kindness or understanding of the difficulties of being Mayor of New York. Their enmities must have irritated him, but, unlike Joe Louis, he rarely struck back.

Bob Wagner is not flamboyant or spectacular, and some of the names never were able to distinguish between fancy packaging and quality merchandising.

But he has distinguished himself in his last term in a manner that has come so much to be known for granted that it was hardly even commented upon after his farewell statement.

Wagner gave the big city of New York a Democratic administration in 1954 that was not only a triumph in important respects, but the best-informed corruption-busters in the city have told me that Wagner gave the city honest government. You could not "buy" a contract from him. This is a very certain quality Wagner never considered one of the boys.

Moreover, Wagner did, in his own way, break up Tammany in New York. He was the only one to help diminish the power of the big Earlier this week, John Lewis, National Chairman of S.N.C.C. (Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee) received the hospitality of the City of St. Louis.

Today he and Charles Evers, and hundreds of other Americans who sought to assemble peacefully, fill the brutally-sided jails of Jackson, Miss. It is essential that money be obtained immediately to meet the bail requirements for freedom for these people.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON SOCIAL SECURITY

Q. My husband, our three minor children, and I have been receiving social security benefits since he retired five years ago. One of our children passed away last week. Since we still have two children under 18 years old, is it necessary for us to notify the Social Security Administration?

A. Yes, it is. In the amount of social security benefits payable to each living beneficiary will change but the total amount payable to the family will remain the same.

Q. My husband died recently. He was only 50 years old and never worked in a job covered by social security (as far as I know). Would there be any reason for my checking with the Social Security Administration?

A. Yes, you should check. If your husband worked for a railroad or was in the military service, it is possible that he earned social security credits and that some benefits may be payable.

Q. My husband died recently at the age of 75. He did not apply for social security benefits during his lifetime. Can I be entitled to any benefits as his widow? I am 70 years old.

A. You should apply for benefits promptly. Take his social security card, some proof of your age, and your marriage certificate and go to the local social security office. If you are there will help you to get the application. If your husband worked in jobs covered by social security for a sufficient length of time, you may be entitled to benefits as his widow.

Q. I was living with my son, who died last week, and I am 70 years old. He provided for all of our needs. Can I receive anything based on my son's social security number?

A. You may be entitled to a small monthly benefit if you are 65 years of age or older and if you were enough under social security and if you were receiving most of your support from him. You should check with your local security office.

Q. I am a widow and receive $75 a month based on my own work record. If I marry, will I lose my benefits?

A. You earned your right to receive payments, and will continue to get them, no matter how many times you remarry.

Q. I have been working under social security for the last 15 years. What kind of protection do I have?

A. Payments may be made to you and your family when you reach age 62 or become disabled. Upon your death, benefits can be paid to your widow and children under age 18.

Q. Why do you urge people to check on their social security records every 5 or 8 years?

A. The time in which corrections on your records can be made is limited. Unless an error is found within 3 years, 3 months, and 15 days after the year which is incorrect, it may not be possible to correct the error.

Q. What happens to the social security taxes collected that are not used for the payment of benefits?

A. The money not needed to pay benefits and operating expenses is loaned to the Treasury, bearing U.S. Government bonds. This loaned money helps to keep social security taxes lower than they would have to be if the Social Security Trust Fund were not financed.

Q. My husband got social security at 62 years old and never worked. A few months ago I became disabled. Can I receive disability payments from my husband's record?

A. No. In order to receive disability benefits you must meet the work requirements. Disability payments cannot be made to you based on your husband's record.

Story on New Breed; Old Mission, Tod About Africa

By Jewel Linbeck-Dierwacker

(Editor's Note: This unusual piece of writing was first printed in a "missionary letter" to friends and supporters in America. It can perhaps best be described as a "prose poem" of the Christian mission. Mrs. Dierwacker is a missionary nurse serving with her husband, Dr. Dierwacker, in the mountains of Kabyia, in Algeria. The Dierwackers are building a 20-bed hospital in the health center of the Kabyia people in and near El Maier. Dr. Dierwacker is from St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Dierwacker is from Sherburne, N. C. She formerly was a Methodist missionary nurse in Liberia.)

To awaken at 4 o'clock in the morning... Another day... An opportunity to expel one's energies... and to be mobile.

It is in the Kabyia mountains that I find myself with the sun... and today I am awake. There is too much of the sun light, too bright for my eyes.

The dogs in the village have stopped barking now... they give their noise only when the roosters of early noon... but the donkeys continue to bray as if out there sounds of the day.

It was a day when I had decided to go on a journey... and I had decided to go on a journey... and I had decided to go on a journey.

This couple returned to the mission with the first sign of spring... and immediately began to work... and immediately began to work.

And in the days now following... a greater dimension has come... a greater dimension has come.

And in the days now following... a greater dimension has come... a greater dimension has come.

And in the days now following... a greater dimension has come... a greater dimension has come.

not married I knew I was building a life with the world... experienced the highest state of womanhood. I appreciate even more having given up the old way to get a different view, to see new paths and different mountains.

I was once convinced that the only way the world would be continued was for me to be an unattached servant of mankind. But... And so... we returned to Kabyia in January, just in time to get a basket lined in anticipation of our first child.

In a country where there is little concept of a "career woman," much less a "career wife," there has been much questioning as to why we are just two; and we have been much rejoicing with many beautiful gestures ever.

Tatiana's coming. She awakened her very day life about herself surrounded by Kabyia women, singing and dancing... shouting "HIMBOOLA!" with arms raised in the air, singing, psalms, and a big bowl of couscous holding 15 spoons.

I thought this was a pretty good day for my little boy, and someday I trust she will be bunched by it. Indeed if brought a new awareness to me—for here we have been much rejoicing with many beautiful gestures ever.

whom I'd suddenly knew — with whom I had a common bond, and I was sure that I would be able to do something for her. We know something together, and we communicated that knowledge—the giving of birth, the joy of a new child, the joy of a new child.

Has Urban Renewal Met Challenge?

Last week I stated that urban renewal holds great promise for facilitating community progress and eliminating many of our metropolitan ills. It was also pointed out that urban renewal programs, inevitably and intimately, touch more Negroes than any other group because of the high concentration of Negroes in the slums and ghettos targeted for clearance and rehabilitation.

Finally, it was shown that the urban renewal experience in America has readily demonstrated its great potential for not only improving—but worsening the existing housing opportunities for the Negro.

In the City of St. Louis there have been two major urban renewal projects in which displacement and relocation were necessary—Mill Creek and Kosciusko.

The Mill Creek area encompassed approximately 100 blocks of residential slum. A 1954 survey of this area showed that 90% of the structures were in need of major repairs. Some 80% of the dwellings were without private bath and toilet facilities. 87% of the structures lacked running water.

The infant mortality rate was two times the City's average, the crime rate about four times the City's average. Traffic fines and the loss of life were commonplace. The total community, including so-called designated Negro leadership, agreed that the terrible conditions in Mill Creek had to end.

Mill Creek renewal was to usher in the millennium. Displaced residents would have the opportunity to move back into safe, sanitary housing. Indeed, a new start, a new home. What happened?

Mill Creek took over 4,000 relocation cases, 11,000 persons were involved in the relocation. Ninety-five percent of the people affected were Negro. Some 31% of the property involved was owner-occupied.

From the outset, Mill Creek was off on the wrong foot, for there was no meaningful resident participation in the planning stages of the project. Indeed, the fact remains that the "planners" minority in their promises to allow those persons displaced to return to a better way of life.

The resident of Mill Creek, instead of participation in planning his destiny, became the victim of a then unexplained, devastating force. He settled in an area that today, some ten years later, is no more than higher-priced, all black slum.

The displaced Negroes found shelter available in the highly congested West End of St. Louis. The area is now a kind of urban renewal area, the West End of St. Louis is now a kind of urban renewal area.

The new Mill Creek which completed will contain housing for some 2,100 "middle-income" families. But keep in mind that 90% of the 4,000 families displaced from Mill Creek cannot qualify as middle-income families. They still earn only 50% plus of white St. Louis incomes.

St. Louis has indeed been a changing City—in most instances, changes have been for the good of our total community. Somewhere along the way, as it relates to human goals, the concept of urban renewal either working or operating for the best interest of all people and serving to assist in bringing the Negro minority into the free, competitive housing market was lost.

Neighborhood bled spreading like a cancer in many sectors of our City. The Negro citizen is confined to the black ghetto; the "sanitary ghetto" (clean and nice, but all black).

As the Negro population increases and the demand for more housing increases, the problem becomes more and more complex. The Negro citizen still pays an inflated price for his shelter needs, and urban renewal is not the whole villain, but urban renewal has indeed been a "major contributing factor."

Urban renewal still holds great hope for our City and should not be written off as a total failure. It is imperative, however, as we move forward that careful pre-planning and the inclusion of those individuals most vitally involved become mandatory.

With thoughtful planning, urban renewal can become a vital force for the flow of the Negro minority into the presently restrictive housing market. Both the Negro minority and the total community would benefit from an unrestricted, competitive housing market.

ALLMAN'S SHOCKING NEW JOB

The announcement that James A. Allman had suddenly become a leading member of the infamous John Birch Society was a shocking disclosure. For those of you who might have forgotten, Allman was for many years head of our Police Department's community relations division. He resigned from the police department, last March, and shortly afterwards procured a private wealth's home, which allowed him to conduct his new life. This report, as stated Allman, after he announced his resignation from the police department. At that time, Allman indicated he might concentrate in the area of "public relations."

Will be a so-called "coordinator" of the Missouri branch of the John Birch Society. Jim Allman certainly has his "public relations" job out for him. The rightly conservative John Birch Society, by their hiring of Allman, clearly indicate there is more than just a smattering of John Birchers in our midst. It so happens that a member of the National Council of the John Birch Society is St. Louisian, W. B. McMillan. McMillan heads the sprawling Humana Refrigerator Company, on North Leffingwell, and is an arch-conservative. You know of course, that this term, arch-conservative is a nice, genteel term for... he don't like us... don't want us... and would be hysterically happy if every Negro in America would "back to Africa"... irrespective of our citizenship.

The John Birchers in fact are against anything even remotely resembling any sort of equality for the Negro. They consider the remarkable fact that Allman is to be a district leader, so to speak of the John Birch Society, Allman told someone when the announcement was made of his appointment. "For me, within the John Birch Society, there is a climate of intellectual comfort. We share the same concerns." Remember this from a man who for four and one-half years handled the sensitive problem of community relations with the St. Louis Police Department. What in the name of common sense is happening here? In the realm of "community relations" Allman was in possession of much super-secret information concerning the personnel, make-up and activities of just about every civil rights organization in existence or contemplated. Now it is revealed that he is a far-rightist with star membership in the John Birch Society. The 564 question here is—was he a member in the John Birch Society, by members of the St. Louis Police Department, restricted by the Louisville, Ky.

Just returned from a blitz trip to Louisville, where this reporter for the first time enjoyed the hospitality of NNPA, in the celebration of its 20th anniversary. The NNPA president, Frank Stanley, is publisher of the enterprising Louisville Defender, and moved as host to the NNPA delegates. The comments and information gleaned from the various workshops and seminars at the NNPA convention were worth the expense and time consumed in making the Louisville trip. But, of even greater importance was the opportunity to meet and exchange trade peculiarities with the various editors and publishers throughout the country. The opportunity was appreciated, and the information obtained in the workshops, will be reflected in the pages of this newspaper in the near future.

As his, but on the social side, Frank Stanley and his charming wife are to be congratulated for making out of the slaps to display the highly wanted Louisville hospitality. From the first day of the convention to the last, every delegate was treated by EVERY citizen of Louisville as if he was a highly respected Kentucky Colonel. In talking about such an occurrence as a twin motorcycle police escort to... the race track, can you imagine, two motorcycle policemen detailed near the entrance of the Kentucky National Guard and a race track, where they frolicked in the club-house, and then escorted them to a look-out at the Frank Stanley man... house later. The Governor of Kentucky and Mayor of Louisville were consistently on hand, to offer remarks and hospitality during the convention. WHEW, that Louisville!

From the Desk of Sen. Edw. V. Long

Congress acted last week to stop the Internal Revenue Service from spending that cash-and-carry money. By an overwhelming 80 to 1 vote, the Senate moved to eliminate this IRS practice which, as pointed out in the Senate last month, is a serious invasion of our right to individual privacy.

The Senate adopted this anti-snooping measure as an amendment to the excise tax bill. Senate leaders agreed to take the amendment to the Senate floor. The amendment was approved. It became law when President Johnson signed the excise tax bill.

This is a welcome amendment for it accomplishes the same purpose as a bill I introduced in the Senate last year. The Senate voted this amendment last year. It became law when President Johnson signed the excise tax bill.

Carl Rowan Speech Sparks The 25th NNPA Confab at Louisville

SPECIAL TO THE ARGUS—
LOUISVILLE, Kentucky—USIA Chief Carl Rowan sounded a warning against conspiracy and a white Kentucky newspaper editor criticized treatment of crime in many Negro newspaper during the four-day convention of the National Newspaper Publishers' Association, held here, the last part of last week.
 Rowan, head of the mammoth United States Information Agency, warned that while the Negro has won the "hotly" summit of legal equality, he has just begun ground in other areas essential to the achievement of real dignity.
 Norman Isaacs, executive editor and vice president of the powerful Louisville Courier-Journal, charged the Negro press has "not stood for the handling of crime news by the daily newspaper and still another for itself."
 "The average publisher and editor of a Negro newspaper," continued Isaacs, "would be deeply offended if the daily newspaper of his city placed great emphasis on crimes committed by Negroes."
 "It's a mischievous conceit," he declared of the Negro citizen, "it was that his daily local newspaper kept crime news far, which it was worth, so more, so less and that 'model'—Montgomery, should not be such unless it was pertinent to the story," he said.
 Isaacs' remarks came before the 25th Anniversary Convention of the National Newspaper Publishers' Association meeting in Louisville through Saturday at the Sheraton Hotel through Saturday.
 "I am proud to be president of the NNPA," said Rowan, "and I am proud to be president of the NNPA."

Rowan, who presided and executive editor of the Louisville Courier Journal and Times, said "American newspapers are taking a major interest in Negro youth for training in journalism. As a result, Negro newspapers will be forced to compete with the larger dailies for competent manpower."
 He said Negro newspapers must meet this challenge with better wages and higher journalistic standards if they are to attract young journalism graduates.
 Rowan, a former U. S. Ambassador to Poland and highest ranking Negro in the federal government, said the Negro in America is winning the fight for racial justice and equality but "he dare not spend much time congratulating himself" about this progress.
 "Negroes" continued Rowan, "may think that 30 years of favorable court decisions and a recent display of racial consciousness on the part of Congress are indications that some final battle has been won. Well, you and I know the fight has only begun."
 Rowan's assessment of Negro progress in the last two decades came in 12 address before the 25th anniversary convention of the National Newspaper Publishers' Association meeting in Louisville through Saturday at the Sheraton Hotel.
 He said the President through the anti-poverty program, "and other private efforts, are being waged to help the Negro break out of his trap of discrimination and poverty."

TAKES LEAD
 Rowan advised that it was necessary to take the lead himself in the "war on this vicious circle of unpreparedness" through education as he has done in the campaign to erase legal discrimination.
 "The press," stated Rowan, "that has served so well to arouse the Negro who in turn has assumed the conscience of the Nation, must develop a concerted new campaign to educate the Negro to rise up to the new challenges of subtle and sometimes insidious barriers."

Clinical test showed... KIDNEYS WORKED BETTER

Doctors in charge of a recent hospital found that when patients drank Mountain Valley Water instead of faucet water, 65%:

- increased elimination of body wastes
- recorded greater urinary output per unit of fluid intake
- found Mountain Valley Water easier to drink in recommended amount

This confirms results in other clinical tests over the past 25 years. Mountain Valley Water is light, non-tiring, non-laxative, and the best-tasting water anywhere.
